Idea #4

You're Invited!

I'm hosting a Tupperware EXPRESS party!

It's super fast...
I'll send you a couple messages with a shopping link.

Let me know if you would like an invite!

Send to potential express party hosts:

Our annual Tupperware Recordbreaker is just around the corner. I'm working to break my record. We have incredible offers for Hosts. I'm wondering if you'd host an "express party" with me? It's as simple as sharing a few messages and a shopping link. Would you like some details?

Once host responds:

Here's how it works I create a few messages for you to share with friends. Included will be a link to a demonstration, a personalized shopping link and a few incentives. All you do is send the messages to 20-30 friends via your preferred way of communicating(text, messenger or email) and pick your gifts by Oct 4th! Whatcha think?

When she says yes.

Can you send me your email, phone and shipping address so I can get it set up

send message 1

I'll mail you an envelope that has a full line catalog, our October specials, and two Host Gift Sheets. These are for you to pick your gifts. Here's a few tips:

Step 1: Make a list of what you'd like for free and half off. You will qualify based on your total sales. You'll get a gift just for saying YES and more starting at $200

Step 2: Make a list of people that love Tupperware or love to cook or eat...lol. Don't get discouraged when some decline. Only ¼ of those on your list will be interested in shopping

Step 3: Personally invite them. Be excited and personally invite your family and friends to shop by sending them the message I've provided. I recommend that you not send one big massive text, but an individual text. Feel free to personalize it a little. Final date for party orders: I will need to close your party no later than Oct 4th. If your friends are procrastinators, you should tell them the 3rd lol.

Step 4 Have 2 bookings! Line up 2 of your family and friends who will have a party of their own and I will shower THEM with free products! It will also increase your Host awards!
Here's something to text or message your friends:

Hi! Hope you're doing well! Fall is here and I know everyone is starting to think about the holidays. I'm hosting an online Tupperware party to snag some great products. It's a super easy party since everyone is so busy...all done via a few messages I'll send you, along with a shopping link. Are you interested?

If you like to see things live, instead of pictures, here's a video of some of the sales specials:

A day after they've been inviting:

I'd invite a group first, and then use this to scoop up people you might have missed.

A few days after mailing the packet:

Hi! Just want to see if you received your catalog?

No matter what they say, send the jpg of the host gift sheet.

Reminder message on Tuesday:

Just a quick reminder that we are going to close out your party on Wednesday. Today would be a great day to send out a reminder. People get busy and procrastinate. Here's a message you can send:
